

TJ's Highland STEAKHOUSE

TJ's HIGHLAND WELL SCOTCH

The Famous Grouse founded by Matthew Gloag in 1896 blends single malt whiskies from Highland Park and The Macallan distilleries. The red grouse is Scotland's national game bird.

"Uisge Beatha", or the "Water of Life"

Scotch Whisky

Only Whisky produced in Scotland can be referred to as Scotch. Scotch whisky may only be produced in Scotland but it is enjoyed around the world, in over 100 countries. During America's prohibition, Scotch received its biggest boost in popularity. Scotch thrived in the underground bar world so much so, that by 1936, the USA had become Scotch whisky's biggest market.

American Whiskey/Bourbon

Deeply rooted in American history, American Whiskey production can be traced back as far as 1780's in the early north east states. The Whiskey Rebellion in the 1790's moved production of American Whisky predominantly to the hills of Tennessee and Kentucky.

Irish Whiskey

Irish whiskey was one of the earliest distilled drinks in Europe, arising around the 12th century. It is believed that Irish monks brought the technique of distilling perfumes back to Ireland from their travels to the Mediterranean countries around 1000 A.D. The Irish then modified this technique to obtain a drinkable spirit.

Japanese Whisky

Japanese Whisky production began in the late 1800's, but the first commercial production was not until 1924. Japanese Whisky is produced in a manner that most closely resembles Scotch Whisky then any other major style of whisky. For years, it was believed that only Scottish style whisky produced in Scotland could match the integrity and standards of Scotch Whisky, but recently, Japanese distilleries have produced several top award-winning blends.

Indian Whisky

Indian distilleries first established in the early 1800's. Indian whiskies tend to be fruity and malty. India's climate proffers a speedy maturation. Indian whiskies tend to be much younger than their Gaelic counterparts.

At TJ's Highland Steakhouse we pour what we consider a "common" single which measures as 1½ oz and a true double. Please enjoy our selection of fine spirits however you prefer; neat, rocks, side of water or any other way you like.
